

Erie Makes Entry In Shortway Construction Picture

Expressway May Be Built From Sharon

ERIE, Pa., April 19 (AP)—A congressman said today that if the Sharon-to-Stroudsburg Shortway is constructed, a four-lane expressway from Sharon to Erie will be built at the same time.

Rep. Kearns (R-Pa.) made the statement in a telegram to John Bowman, executive vice president of the Greater Erie Chamber of Commerce. Kearns said:

"I will not in any way support a main highway through the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that does not serve Greater Erie. According to official comment to me ... the proposed shortway now being considered across the state, if constructed, will provide for a four-lane expressway from the Shortway to and from Erie to be constructed simultaneously with the Shortway."

The federal government is studying whether to include the proposed Shortway in the federal highway building program.

Kearns said he was assured by B. B. Tallamy, federal highway director, that the Sharon-Erie Expressway would be built if the Shortway is constructed. The congressman said the Expressway would follow the general path of Route 19.

Humphrey Ready To Accept Check

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey said today he would be glad to take back that $1,508.26 in stationary money which Sen. Williams (R-Dele) has been making an issue of.

Williams said yesterday he has been trying in vain to refund to the Treasury money remaining unspent from his official allowance for writing paper, envelopes, etc. The Delaware senator said he was told a new Treasury ruling forbade such refunds. Moreover, he said he was informed the money had to be spent or he would be taxed on it.

Taking issue with Williams, Humphrey said he couldn't find anybody in the Treasury who had given Williams such information. "If Sen. Williams would offer me a check for the amount, I will be glad to receive it personally," Humphrey's statement said.

And he added, "If Sen. Williams does not draw out the amount, it cannot be spent by anyone else and eventually will come back to the Treasury as unexpended. So there is no chance for this money to be lost or spent for something to be sent out to the city dump without Sen. Williams' personal authorization."

Williams said yesterday he had been told that one way out of his dilemma might be to spend the money for stationery and then have the paper hauled out to the dump.

Mt. Etna Puts On Fireworks

CATANIA, Sicily, April 19 (AP)—Mt. Etna put on a gaudy display of fireworks tonight in eruptions of increasing violence.

Earth tremors shook Catania twice during the day and experts said flowing lava may reach five mountainside villages.

The new explosions in a series that began four days ago came from a crater 2,000 feet below the 10,768-foot volcano's perpetually snow-capped peak.

Lenten Meditation

William H. Lipsett
C. & M. A. Church, Stroudsburg

THIS SEASON of Lent which begins on Ash Wednesday and continues through Easter Sunday, is observed by some churches as a special time of devotion, in Prayer and Fasting.

It is said to note that after this season is past many people will even forget to seek the Lord in prayer, until another season comes along. There is a time and place for every thing under the Sun, but God's time is now.

Behold now is the accepted time, behold now is the day of Salvation.—11 Cor. 6:2.

If we are born again Christians we should not only have special seasons of prayer and praise, but pray as Saint Paul says: Pray without ceasing.—11 Thes. 5:17.

Place of prayer—I Tim. 2:8. I will therefore that men pray everywhere lifting up Holy hands. Not only in these special seasonal services in the churches, but at home, at work, and everywhere. Many people attend these traditional services because they

60 Injured As Brooklyn Subway Trains Collide

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—A subway stalled in a Brooklyn tunnel tonight and a second train roared around a sharp curve and crashed into it from the rear.

From 40 to 60 persons were injured, most of them but slightly. Twenty-five were taken to hospitals, none in critical condition. The motorman of one train was trapped in his crushed cab for nearly two hours, but survived.

A moment of panic swept the 200 persons aboard the two trains. Women screamed. Passengers were thrown from their seats. Windows broke and glass flew through the air.

Main Lights
The main lights of the trains went out. However, dim emergency lights saved the riders from the terror of total darkness.

When it became apparent there were no serious injuries, the tumult subsided and the passengers began an orderly exit through emergency connections between the tunnel and the street.

There was no explanation for the failure of the block system which is supposed to safeguard every inch of New York's underground track. Normally, when a train stops an automatic braking system stops any other train from entering that section of track.

The crash scene was in the Bedford - Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, behind the navy yard and not far from the Williamsburg Bridge.

The lead train was an eight-car "G" local of the Independent line, en route from Brooklyn to Queens. It left the Bedford-Norstrand Ave. station about 7:20 p.m.

Motorman Victor P. O'Brian, 45, of Maspeth, Queens, took the train around a sharp curve just outside the station. Then brake trouble stalled his train.

The motorman of the second train, William Hoke, 46, apparently did not see the stalled train until he was upon it, because of the sharp curve in the tracks.

He applied his brakes desperately at the last moment. But their shriek was drowned out by the noise of the crash.

Student
Martin Fitzpatrick, a teen-aged Brooklyn student, was in the first car of Hoke's train.

"I was standing up. Suddenly I felt the brakes go on. The next thing I knew we had crashed. I was thrown to the floor."

He described the screaming and commotion as passengers were sent sprawling from their seats in the semidarkness.

Hoke was trapped in his cab. After the passengers were rescued emergency crews went back to cut him free.

Investigation Spreads To Eight Cities

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) proposed today that Senate rackets investigators resume quickly their study of alleged payoffs to union officials in Scranton, Pa.

His statement came as other sources said staff investigators for the special Senate committee conducting the inquiry are either "at work or about to be" in eight of the nation's large cities from coast to coast, digging out evidence.

The informants named the cities as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Seattle, Omaha, and Detroit.

Mundt told a reporter that Earl P. Bettendorf of Texarkana, Tex., is entitled to the prompt hearing the manufacturer has requested. Bettendorf wants to reply to testimony linking his name with alleged payoffs to two Teamsters Union business agents in Scranton who have been indicted on extortion charges.

Willing
Mundt said he will be in Washington all next week, and that if Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the committee will be present also "I am willing" to have the hearing then.

"A man's reputation shouldn't be left bouncing around when he is asking to be heard," Mundt said.

McClellan was in Fort Smith, Ark., today, and the committee's chief counsel, Robert F. Kennedy, was reported in Miami. Both plan to return over the weekend.

Bettendorf's name popped into the committee's hearings on alleged violence and terrorism by labor union "goons" in Scranton. McClellan disclosed he had asked the Justice Department why Bettendorf, as the alleged source of the payoffs, was not also indicted by a federal grand jury which accused business agents Joseph McHugh and Robert Malloy of extorting $4,200 from him.

Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) pointed out that none of several business firms alleged to have paid off McHugh, Malloy and John Durkin, another Scranton Teamsters business agent, has been indicted. McNamara said he thought that making a payoff is a "worse" offense than receiving one.

Announcement
McClellan, before leaving for Arkansas, had announced "we are going to find out why they were not prosecuted." In reply to a question he said "It might be the subject of an investigation" if the explanation indicates a need for one.

Oliver Dibble, the special federal prosecutor in charge of the Scranton case, had offered one explanation: That if both the giver and receiver were indicted "we wouldn't be able to make one testify against the other."

'Mad Bomber' In Hospital

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—Mad Bomber George Metesky was taken by ambulance today to Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Beacon, N. Y., 35 miles up the Hudson River.

The 54-year-old Waterbury, Conn., bachelor was ordered committed yesterday by Brooklyn Judge Samuel Leibowitz, who found him hopelessly insane and unable to stand trial.

Doctors have said the man who planted 32 homemade bombs in New York in 16 years is dying of tuberculosis.

Pilgrims Follow Steps To Calvary

JERUSALEM, April 19 (AP)—Easter pilgrims bearing heavy wooden crosses sorrowfully traced today the steps of Jesus on the road to Calvary.

Christians from the West and East, some wearing oriental shawls, hoods and turbans and speaking many different tongues, trod the flagstone streets of Old Jerusalem to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. In the line, too, were blue-bereted U. N. soldiers, joining in the singing of hymns.

British Ship Passes Through Suez Canal

PORT SAID, April 19 (AP)—A British ship passed through the Suez Canal today for the first time since Britain and France invaded Egypt last November. It flew the "red duster," ensign of the British merchant marine, and there were no untoward incidents.

The 3,604-ton West Breeze emerged from this northern terminal and put out into the Mediterranean tonight.

An Egyptian Suez Canal Authority spokesman said the West Breeze was given the same treatment as any other ship. It entered the canal at Suez, the southern gateway, early today and took its place in a four-ship convoy for the 108-mile journey. Few Egyptians were about.

The ship carries a cargo of peanuts from China for Rotterdam. "We had a very good voyage," Capt. Ibris Cowie, a Briton, told a reporter.

"I am happy to be the captain of the first British ship to transit the canal" since before the November invasion.

Request
Britain recently had urged shipowners to avoid using the canal pending a final settlement or to pay tolls under protest.

The protest under maritime law asserts Britain's rights and shows the form of payment is not voluntary. Thus Britain lays a basis for potential legal action—possibly in the International Court of Justice—if it cannot obtain a satisfactory canal settlement.

Red Aides Warn West

MOSCOW, April 19 (AP)—Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov warned the West tonight that the Moscow-directed Warsaw Pact powers will match NATO bomb for bomb, missile for missile.

Scranton Defends Labor Standing

SCRANTON, Pa., April 19 (AP)—There's a popular song that says: "It ain't necessarily so."

Scranton borrowed those lyrics today in launching a counterattack against bad publicity engendered by a Senate probe that disclosed tales of labor racketeering, violence and intrigue.

The Chamber of Commerce of this northeastern Pennsylvania city of 124,000 tagged its campaign "Operation Positive Approach," designed to highlight Scranton's good points.

Chamber President John J. O'Connell put it this way: "Our people's story is a magnificent picture of a courageous and determined people fighting to rebuild their area into a prosperous place to live and work."

"The great weight of evidence as to what Scranton is really like lies in the record which has been written by the vast majority and not in the alleged actions of a few."

Witnesses before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee testified in Washington earlier this week about unsavory labor actions—including the dynamiting of a house being built by non-union labor.

One person said Mayor James T. Hanlon, a Democrat, tried to hush up the bombing prior to an election.

Hanlon labeled the charge against him as a lie, described the witness as an "admitted perjurer."

Hanlon today admitted his city "has been the victim of adverse publicity" and added:

"But it's not the first time we've had problems and I have faith in the ability of the people and the city to throw off these effects."

The chamber, taking the initiative in launching the counterattack, pointed out that Hanlon is the only mayor in Scranton's history to be elected three times and has promoted many millions of dollars worth of community, recreational and housing improvements.

The searchlight that Washington pointed at Scranton, the chamber emphasized, touched only a tiny facet of life in a big city.

After World War II Scranton faced the prospect of slow economic death. Its citizens, many jobless, were moving away. There was little important industry.

For many years the most important work was the mining of anthracite—hard coal—but this is fairly insignificant now. Most of the deep mining is done in nearby Wilkes-Barre and Hazleton. Strip mining, digging from the surface with steam shovels, is the principal coal-producing activity.

So, by necessity, Scranton faced up to the need for new industry. It developed the "Scranton Plan," also known as the Lackawanna Industrial Fund Enterprise. Residents contributed parts of their salaries. Business chipped in.

In the past 12 years 70 new industries have moved into Scranton and 100 other businesses or manufacturing firms expanded operations. (Please Turn To Page Nine)

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The United States was reported today to have boosted to 100 million dollars the amount of aid being offered to Poland.

Father Of Family Dies After Fire

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Woodrow Matthews, whose wife and two children were found dead in an explosion-wrecked house two days ago, died late today in Binghamton City Hospital.

An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of death. He had suffered burns over 70 per cent of his body and puncture wounds of the chest and neck.

Authorities had been questioning the 42-year-old Matthews about the explosion, which a fire official said was touched off by someone. They said that he admitted he had tried to stab himself with a screwdriver after discovering his family was dead but that he insisted to the end he had not killed his wife and children.

Reply
Earlier today he had told investigators who sought to question him again: "I'm sick, just leave me alone."

The bodies of Mrs. Ella Matthews, 38, her daughter, Alma, 14, and son, Carl, 10, were found in the wreckage of their home early Wednesday.

Coroner Vincent Maddi reported yesterday that the three died of stab-like wounds and that they were dead before the fire that followed the explosion. He said it had not been determined whether they died before the explosion.

It was not clear whether the wounds were inflicted by a person or by flying debris.

Matthews, who was found outside the ruined house, told investigators that he had been blown through a window.

Fire Marshal Gerald D. O'Loughlin reported today that the natural explosion in the two-story frame home had been "set off by a person."

Expelled
Meanwhile, police revealed that Alma had been expelled from high school recently on the ground that she had posed for nude photographs. The pictures were sold to other pupils and Alma's father suffered "great shame," police said.

Yesterday, authorities said Matthews had told them that he had smelled gas in the basement garage of the house and believed he had shut off the main gas line before going upstairs to bed.

Good Morning!

There's one thing to be said for children—they never pull out pictures of their grandparents.

FROM A DARK FRIDAY: ETERNAL LIGHT — God's Friday came and cast the world down into darkness, stopping the sun's flight, stilling the circle of the Earth. And in this hour the Son of God and Man's Son died on a cross upon a hill above Jerusalem. This was the earth's long, troubled hour. Yet it gave birth to more triumph than Man could dream alone. The Glory had been there all along, yet walking with men through Nabareth and Galilee and in the Garden of Gethsemane, but men could not see. (In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same that was in the beginning with God. All things were made by Him and without Him was made nothing and the darkness did not comprehend it.) Then Death was over and in the strong light of eternity, the world itself was born anew for Man was newborn and, for the first time, fully alive. In the dark tragedy of a Cross, immortal Light was born and it was Light for all the world, for all Mankind to see. It shines now, even against the black countenance of evil and the darkness of blind men.

Canadian Embassy Maintains Published Norman Suicide Notes Fail To Correspond

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The Canadian Embassy said today published versions of two suicide notes written by Herbert Norman, late Canadian ambassador to Egypt, "bear no relation" to the originals.

"The only conclusion which can be drawn is that the texts ... are complete fabrications," the embassy stated, acting on instructions from its government in Ottawa.

Mayflower On Historic Voyage

PLYMOUTH, England, April 19 (AP)—Mayflower II has her hold full of cargo and is ready to start tomorrow on a history-repeating voyage.

The 180-ton sailing vessel, oak replica of the ship in which the Pilgrim Fathers went to America in 1620, was at the starting line at last after delays in the building yard at Brixham.

She is about to sail from Plymouth, England, to Plymouth, Mass. The original Pilgrims needed 65 days to make the extremely hazardous journey to the west. The 32 men in the modern Mayflower, knowing much more about weather and currents than was known in 1620, think they can make the crossing in about six weeks.

Mayflower II dozed tonight a few hundred yards from Drake Island, which bears the name of the intrepid explorer — Sir Francis Drake — who used this old port as a base.

"The weather — it is too damned perfect," said Cmdr. Alan Villiers, Australian sailor who will be skipper of the vessel. "What we need is some wind — not a hurricane but a fresh easterly blow. Today's wind is just about zero. But in this part of the world we expect swift changes, and tomorrow may be an altogether different story."

Teamsters Union Authorizes Strike For 2,000 Railway Express Agency Drivers

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The Teamsters Union said today a strike has been authorized for midnight Sunday for some 2,000 members employed by the Railway Express Agency in seven cities.

The drivers are employed in Newark, N. J., Philadelphia, San Francisco and St. Louis.

In St. Louis Teamster Union sources said the strike also would

Beck Launches Fight Against Suspension

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Teamsters Union President Dave Beck today launched a fight to void his suspension as an AFL-CIO officer.

Beck wrote AFL-CIO President George Meany he considers the suspension without effect. He also said the federation's ouster move against the Teamsters Union itself could not proceed until more specific charges were made.

Beck's decision to fight it out with fellow labor leaders was met with a "so what" attitude on the part of top AFL-CIO officers. It also brought a suggestion from Sen. Mundt (R-SD) that the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee wants to get Beck back on the witness stand soon for more questioning.

Trouble
It was Beck's invoking of the Fifth Amendment to avoid committee questions that got him in dutch with the AFL-CIO. The parent organization has a policy banning union officers from taking refuge in the amendment when questioned about union matters.

Beck acknowledged on a nationwide television program that he used $300,000 to $400,000 of Teamsters funds without paying interest, but said he repaid it all. He was unwilling to repeat this when called before the committee under oath.

Mundt said Senate investigators have accumulated "a vast amount of information" about Beck since then. Without giving any details, Mundt said it was data "the Teamsters, the public and the Congress should know."

Vandals Reported

ESSINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Four pint jars of paint were hurled into the office of the Eastern States Transportation Co. here last night in an act of vandalism police say may be connected with a three month old strike at Linde Air products Co. plants.

under the Railway Labor Act expires at midnight Sunday. A presidential emergency board recommended on March 21 a settlement on the basis of 26½ cents an hour over a period of three years, similar to the national wage "pattern" for rail workers. The union has been seeking wage boosts greater than those recommended.

The Way of The Cross

By Leonard Randolph

Jesus Body Safely Laid Away In Darkness Of Cave Tomb

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the last chapter of a 14-part Easter season series written by Leonard Randolph. The series is entitled "The Way of the Cross." It has appeared each day for the past two weeks.

Final Chapter

THE ARIMATHEAN

AT LAST HIS BODY is safe from the hands of thieves, laid away in the dark cave of this rock. And now we no longer need to fear reprisals against the remnants of his human form by those who hated him. My work is done and in the dead night I must leave him, sealed in his sleep and lost to man's sight.

It is just, I think, that Man, molded from dust blown out of such rocks as these shall in this hour of death return to dust and darkness in a hollowed stone. Good carpenter and Savior of Man, I leave thee now in peace for my soul's reckoning.

THE GUARD

WHAT BOTTEN JOBS I get! Walking guard in the center of the city at midnight is bad enough; now they have set me at foot's play guarding the entrance to a dead man's cave. This thing is sealed tightly enough. No one could move this rock they've put before it.

The job may be dull. But too many things have happened on this day, for me to take the darkness lightly. That mob was something to behold! Screaming and mauling each other with their drunken hands! And this night is filled with mystery. I do not know which way to turn; each time I look toward the hill I see nothing but the empty crosses on the rim of the night sky. There is something eerie about this; I am growing cold and yet the air is stifling hot. The wind is rising, carrying a smell of opened earth with it.

Some of them said the dead rose up from their graves this afternoon as the sky darkened. And they are still walking in the streets and on the doorsteps of Jerusalem. Now every sound I hear causes my head to jerk around without my will. I am suspicious even of the silence. I know nothing of this man who lies beyond the rock here. But he has changed the whole face of Jerusalem today. I wonder if it shall ever be the same.

If the other guards have gone to sleep in the darkness. What does it matter? No one will ever know that they are sleeping.

NICODIMUS

THIS IS HIS TOMB. I followed the Arimathean and the others as they brought his body down the slope of the hill. And at a distance I watched to know where they would bury him. Not out of curiosity, but for my soul and for my sorely troubled mind. Under the black cover of night, I came to pay an homage I lacked courage to give him while he lived and care for him in death this hour.

Such men as I, who have our intellects and boast a pride in many great achievements in the temples and the cities, in our politics and in our earthly ways, shall never find it easy to accept the wonder that this man has borne into our world for us. I was afraid—afraid to say that I believed what in my heart I knew I must believe. For all the things that I have heard and taught from my great learning have been seen in him; His words have been the purest particles of Love and Faith that I have known. Yet how could I follow him? This would have been admission that I was wrong. This would have made me different from my fellow men, set me aside and marked me. I could not cut myself away, ignoring them and their opinions of me, to follow this man. His days were numbered—this much I knew. For any man whose voice is strong becomes suspect and every time one other man believes him, he is like the animal surrounded by snares in a thicket whose every step shall bring him nearer the pit of darkness.

O, Nazarene who was the Son of God, I have seen Judas and have looked into his eyes. And I have seen in his dark gaze an image of myself. Forgive me, carpenter and prophet, that in my learned cowardice I cast thee down and was too blind to show that I could see.

PETER

NOW I SHALL WATCH this hour with Thee, My Lord.

Though I am late as all men are late in coming to Thy feet, this hour is all I have to offer now, save for the days of my life which I devote to Thee.

In my confusion I could not believe that I would do the thing you prophesied of me. Yet I did deny Thee. And I shall live this denial all the dread hours of my life. Now I remember the dark garden and a sleep filled with dark dreams; the courtyard and the questioning of those about me; the crowing cock beyond the portals of the temple. In all of this I am cut off from Thee. And I am like the torn hand of the cripple; I am maimed and tortured and I walk without Love in search of Thee.

O, Lord! I am, of all men, most unworthy, now. For any man who turns his face from Thee must walk in darkness. Yet Thou art born in me again and I in Thee. This is the miracle of new life in Man.

I am Thy poor instrument. Speak and work through me, O Lord. Of all the men who followed Thee, I was least impressive in my form and dress. Yet all things that are given out of Love must still be in Love; and even the ugliest of instruments is beautiful if it be used in the name of Love.

Dear Lord, My God! I wait this hour beside Thy tomb. And in the darkness no one shall know I've come to Thee. Put Thy hand fast upon my heart, Dear Lord. Let me live through this dark night that I may glory in The Morning.

In Love and Sorrow I must keep this watch with Thee.

Importance Of Victory To Be Featured

VITAL IMPORTANCE for men today of Christ Jesus' victory over death will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday when the Lesson-Sermon is entitled "Doctrine of Atonement."

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will comprise the Lesson-Sermon. From John will be read the account of Christ Jesus' crucifixion and resurrection.

Passages Correlative passages from Science and Health include the following (45:16): "Glory to God, and peace to the struggling hearts! Christ hath rolled away the stone from the door of human hope and faith, and through the revelation and demonstration of the life in God, hath elevated them to possible at-one-ment with the spiritual idea of man and his divine Principle, Love."

The Golden Text is from I John (4:10): "Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins."

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the services at the First Church of Christ's Scientists, Stroudsburg.

CANADENSIS — The Moravians of Canadensis will open Easter Day with services at 5 a.m. The ancient litany of Easter Triumph and original of all of present day Easter sunrise services will begin the service at the Church.

As always, in case the weather allows, the congregation will depart from the church and go in motorcade to the cemetery north on Route 290 where amid the graves of departed loved ones and with a brass band leading the march and playing the old Easter Chorales for the singing, the service will be continued. The confession of belief in The Resurrection will be made and the pastor will read the names of the departed since last Easter after which the band will strike up and the worshippers will sing.

The note of Resurrection and victory over death will be otherwise sounded and will follow the reading of the Resurrection from the Scriptures from a compendium of the Gospels. After the benediction the band will play while the people recess from the Cemetery. All are welcome.

Other Easter Services will be a special program in the Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. for children and adults alike and the Easter worship at 11:00 a.m. at which both choirs will sing, members will be received and the pastor will deliver the Easter sermon.

AND THEN...IT'S EASTER!

Yesterday, these four were their Mothers' despair. Their faces were grimy, their playclothes spattered with mud. They were even ready to put up their fists and fight when the rivalry between spacemen and cowboys became a little too keen.

Today, they are immaculate. They sing like young angels. They even look like angels... because today is Easter! And these boys are proclaiming the glorious message that Christ Is Risen.

Easter is the time of promise, beauty, awe at the miracle of birth and rebirth. Easter is the time to let the joy of living seep into you. It is the time to tell yourself that you believe... and, if there's been any doubt about it, to start believing again.

Spend part of your Easter in Church. Spend the rest of it looking, with new eyes, at the wonderland God has created around you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Tomorrow Is Easter --- A Wonderful Day

Tomorrow, is Easter. The matchless day. It is the day on which Jesus pushed back the huge stone and emerged from the tomb to which he was cast apparently forever. Down through the years this is the day on which man has received a fresh start. The day that has gone down in history for its inspiration.

After sorrowing for 40 days through the Lenten Season, man is again able to look at the brighter side of history and in so doing receive a brighter outlook for the future.

On this day we realize just how much suffering Jesus endured during his crucifixion. We also realize that an entire cruel empire couldn't prevent Jesus from accomplishing his mission.

He went to his death to save humanity and our very being today is proof of his success.

Much of the year our pace is too brisk to give thanks to God. The short pauses never seem to come. But, its an entirely different story on Easter.

Every God fearing man realizes that Easter is the day of days. It is the day that our present world was actually put together. It is the day that gives us the necessary Spring lift to see things in a different perspective.

Like Christmas, Easter brings us closer to our respective churches than at any other time of the year.

The thoughts of Jesus, his suffering and most of all His resurrection cling with us on this day.

Easter is actually the beginning of a new year. A date on which we make the promise to at least attempt to lead a cleaner and more respectable life. The promise is more often than not broken, but on this one day it reigns supreme.

Easter and Christmas mean more to us than any other day, even though we adults have long outlived the custom of the Bunny Rabbit and Santa Claus.

There's something about Easter that words can't describe.

It's Easter—a wonderful day.

Proof Needed For Huge Sums

Criticism of the United States Information Agency and its works has been common and often times bitter in recent years. President Dwight Eisenhower has asked that $144,000,000 be appropriated for this organization, but a House appropriations subcommittee has recommended a slash of $38,000,000 in this.

The Chief Executive says he views the proposed cut with "deep concern." He declares: "In key areas of the world, America's voice of truth must become more clearly heard."

Rep. Rooney, Democrat, of New York, subcommittee chairman, is among those who take a jaundiced view of some of USIA's efforts. He admits that it can be and sometimes is useful. But, he remarks, "I have studied its activities abroad on many occasions, and cannot in good conscience say that I feel the American taxpayers have been getting the value they should for their money." He avers, and apparently the evidence is on his side, "USIA efforts in the Hungarian crisis were a complete failure."

Even in these days $144,000,000 is a prodigious sum of money. Any agency, department or bureau that spends this kind of money in one year should be able to justify its expenditures beyond the shadow of doubt.

George Sokolsky Says...

Every Citizen Has Ideas About Amount Of Taxes, Correct Manner For Collection

Every citizen has ideas about what the taxes should be and how to collect them. Nobody really enjoys paying any taxes at all, but most admit that the government needs to meet its bills, and therefore must tax the citizens somewhat. When the "some-what" gets too tough, the citizens write letters to congressmen and Congressmen.

What most citizens do not know is that some departments of the government pad their payrolls, expecting Congress to squeeze the padding out. Also that if a department discovers that it has more money on hand than it can spend, ways and means have to be invented to make the money disappear; otherwise it has to be returned to the Treasury and that fouls things up for an enlarged and padded budget the next year.

Also there is an item called "unexpended surpluses," namely, that some departments are able to hide away the amounts that they cannot use in a given year and they hold on to these sums, lawfully or otherwise, so that they can be used as needed. Finally, there are the fiscal year—say, such an item as building a new-type plane which may run from conception to obsolescence over a couple of years. The trouble here is that when such an item becomes obsolete, even on the drawing board, it is not altogether discarded if the appropriations have been authorized, lest some Congressional committee ask what goes on.

So all this costs money and the taxpayer is required to turn over his earnings to the tax collectors and hopes that he can carry himself along on installment buying until his credit is exhausted, if ever. Now along comes a Yankee from Rockland, Maine, who wants no personal advertising, but he makes a proposition:

"For my money Mr. Sokolsky, all taxation should be based on a person's ability to pay it, and I would think that it would be a very good idea if the city, state, and federal governments, would get together and base their taxation programs on that and then they would have some idea of how much you can take out of a citizen, at this time, as we all have to eat first and pay taxes after, and to that I think that you will agree."

In the first place, how is ability to pay to be measured? At present, it is measured by earnings and we suffer a graduated income tax based on earnings but including a number of exceptions and exemptions. Therefore, this gentleman's proposition offers nothing novel because that is the way it is now done. All earnings are reported at least twice, once by the payer and another time by the recipient and to prevent the citizen from spending his earnings as he goes along, Congress has instituted the withholding tax which is a trick whereby one's wages are cut in advance and the tax money taken out. This entails considerable and costly bookkeeping for which the government does not pay.

The psychological effect of the withholding tax is that many who pay taxes do not automatically realize how much they pay. They regard as their wages the net amount that they take home.

My correspondent wants "to eat first and pay taxes after," which is a proposition that the government does not regard as valid. Actually, taxes come first and foremost under the law, and if the citizen cannot eat as he desires because he must pay taxes, that is his problem. A man may have to choose between caviar and a hamburger, but he has no choice as to taxes, which he must pay, come what may.

Also the cost of eating is not deductible except for those who have expense accounts and can sign their names to chits or tabs or whatever the summations are called in the very swellest restaurants. Only such folks are able to eat leisurely and as much as their gall-bladders will tolerate. A deductible item is a great joy, if you can get it, and an expense account is the best way to live high on the hog prior to taxes.

This, however, everyone should know: taxes are a first lien on one's earnings; they come even before breakfast.

Our Own Infant Mental Giant Moppets who answer amazing questions on TV jackpot shows are a current sensation and today we introduce our own juvenile mental giant, Gusie Fizzenzplatz, aged seven, who may win big money, but seems more in the pattern of a normal kid: Q—Welcome again Gusie. You are now in your tenth week on this show. A—Gee, won't they ever let me off? Q—Did you have a good week? A—Up to now, yes. Q—How old are you? A—Now you're making the questions too hard. Q—Oh, come on, you can figure it out of you try. A—Well let X equal Y over 2. Multiply that by four volts Fahrenheit and you get 1950, which is the year I was born. It is now 1957. So I must be six years old plus two minus one, which is seven. You wanna make anything of it? Q—When not solving complicated problems do you play like other boys?

A—Sure, I'm on the school baseball third team. Q—What position? A—I'm majoring in electronics at second base. Q—How do the other kids react to your show of super intelligence on TV? A—Boy, am I unpopular! They call me "Stupid." Q—Why? A—Because out of all the kids in the city I am the only one to get himself in a tough spot like this in addition to my homework. Q—Gussie, after all these weeks you have won $200,000. What do you want to go for now? A—Could I go for a lollipop? Q—Don't you want $400,000? A—No. Teacher won't let me bring $400,000 to school even if I promise to play with it only at recess. Q—My boy, don't you realize what this kind of money means? A—It seems a lot of nights in a sound booth and no Tuesday nights to play with electric trains. Q—Enough of this, Gusie. Step into the sound booth or else! Why Did One Get Job And The Other Fail?

By Anne Heywood

Empathy, the ability to see things through the other person's eyes, is the most valuable asset the job-hunter can have. Here are two letters which illustrate this point perfectly. The first is from a woman I'll call Mrs. A:

Familiar Prejudice
"I wish you'd write more about the prejudice against the older worker. I've been to all the employment agencies in our city—one run by the state and eleven private ones. At not one of them was I treated like a member of the human race!"

"What possesses these people? They don't care, they won't listen to your experience, they insist that you fill out all those cards, they rush you out! Just because I'm forty-seven is no reason for such treatment!"

The other letter, from a woman I'll call Mrs. B, was much shorter. "We celebrated last night—my fifty-first birthday and a brand new job! I got it through the State Employment Agency. Such nice people! They have a special way of making you feel good—and even employable!"

The odd part, as you've probably guessed, is that the ladies live in the same city. Obviously, Mrs. A. can't see the other side of things. She is the type who will go to an agency on a crowded, hectic day and insist on giving a half-hour description of each subtle nuance of each job she ever had. Therefore, she gets short shrift. She probably also has a talent for telling people how to run their business and for continuing to talk when the phone rings.

Most of all, Mrs. A. probably has no idea how it feels to be pressured by great numbers of people who must be interviewed, all the and stories that must be listened to.

New Woman
If she could just, mentally, put herself into the interviewer's

The Agency Made Her Feel "Employable"

place for one day, she'd be a new woman. If you are having trouble getting a job, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of this newspaper, and I'll send you my pamphlet, Good Manners in Job-Hunting.

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Artemus Ward once sought a remedy for removing a wart on his face, and was offered a case of the magic ointment for a signed testimonial. So he came up with one. However, it left something to be desired by the proprietor of the salve, anyhow. It read: "I used one jar of your remedy last night. This morning the wart, alas, remains undiminished, but my face has disappeared entirely."

On Broadway

An ageless war has flared across the pages of the Satevepost, Harper's magazine and the N. Y. Times. The struggle finds the critics allied against the rest of the world. . . . The SEP essay reports: "Bruised artists and bankrupt producers have accused critics of practically every imaginable deficiency except one. Like baseball umpires, they are called blind, stupid bums, but even rabid opponents admit their decisions are thoroughly honest and unprejudiced."

Of course, integrity is a priceless characteristic. It is the essential basis of criticism. The appraisal of artistic endeavors, however, requires more than honesty. Judgment, taste, imagination, intelligence, diligence are equally vital attributes. A sincere fool can cause more damage than a crook. Actually, critics are more than umpires. They operate as judges, juries and executioners.

The mag essay adds: "When critics wind up and throw barbs into a play now, they take dead aim at the author or producer and sympathize with the actors for getting trapped in the mishmash."

While it is generally true that reviewers strive to be sympathetic toward performers, the melancholy fact is that such compassion is superfluous when they torpedo plays. Kindness is small comfort to actors after their meal-tickets are destroyed.

Critic Brooks Atkinson argues in the N.Y. Times: "People obsessed with the illusion that it is the critics and not the authors and their colleagues who are responsible for the failures will go on believing that the eleven unanimously rejected plays this season would have been box-office successes if the critics had lied about them, or kept their mouths shut."

The Herald-Tribune's Walter Kerr echoes his colleague: "The frightening power we're supposed to wield is exaggerated."

The foregoing declarations are vigorously debunked by critic John Chapman who concedes: "Unhappily and unfortunately, two out of three bad notices from Atkinson, Kerr and me can kill a show."

Mr. Atkinson's testimony continues: "In the theatre the power is on the stage; it is put there by authors, directors and actors. The critics can transmit to the public some of the power generated on the stage. Unlike political dictators, they have no power of their own. . . . It seems to us the erudite Mr. Atkinson is basing his conclusions on a hit-and-run philosophy. He ignores the mathematically proven power of critics and disavows all responsibility. With few exceptions, wielding power without accepting responsibility, as Mr. Atkinson well knows, is the basis of political dictatorship."

The contentions by Atkinson and Kerr that they are hardly more than innocent bystanders will undoubtedly stun many of their battered victims. The fact is that a critic is never a non-combatant. The primary function of a critic is to convey an honest opinion. That function occasionally compels him to scorn the efforts of creative artists. His scorn is an extension of his judgment. His judgment can be right or wrong—but it cannot be objective. The hand that pulls the trigger—not the gun—is guilty of inflicting injury.

Walter Kerr contends in Harper's magazine: "The newspaper critic's obligation is not to the man who has invested a thousand dollars in a project he hopes to make a profit on; it is to the reader who has invested 5 cents in his newspaper and is on the verge of investing an additional $7.50 in a theatre seat."

Actors, producers and playwrights are also readers of newspapers as well as playgoers. A man who holds the power to deprive them of their incomes has a certain obligation towards them. The obligation consists of treating them fairly. For in the final analysis, a critic's fundamental responsibility is to his own conscience.

Mr. Kerr also writes: "Expectation—the way a show looks in the Sunday advertisements, sounds in the gossip columns, or adds up in the 'hunch' department of the playgoer's brain—is probably the only truly determining factor in the success or failure of a play."

Expectation is one of those intangibles which means everything and nothing. There have been some shows that were successful despite adverse comments while other shows have flopped after gaining unanimous raves. They are the exceptions, however. By and large, the longevity and prosperity of a show depends on the critics' verdict. That is a fact. . . . A fact can be analyzed or debated. It cannot be evaded.

The aforementioned Mr. Atkinson reports: "Mr. Kerr believes that by the time most theatre-goers are ready to go to the theatre they have only the foggiest notion of what the reviews said. They are primarily motivated by other considerations—the difficulty of buying tickets (if a production is difficult to get into, they want to see it), comments from their friends, the names of stars, interest in the subject matter, the sound of the title."

Clearly, Atkinson is putting the cart before the horse. Difficulty in buying tickets, comments from friends and interest in subject matter are the consequence of rave notices. Let Mr. Atkinson name one tough-to-get ticket show that did not gain approving reviews. "My Fair Lady"? "South Pacific"? "Bells Are Ringing"? "Guys and Dolls"? "Long Day's Journey Into Night"?

It took some 12 years to design and mount the 105-foot Colossus of Rhodes, one of the original seven wonders of the world.

My New York

New York—Now is the time of the year when Manhattan's fair-weather friends, the outlanders from Mahanoy City, Pa., or Ashtabula, O.—who wouldn't give us the time of the day when the slush is on the ground or the mid-summer humidity choking us to death—meditate the advisability of paying us a visit. Their purpose is simple. They want to see our new plays.

Since New York's spring melts the hardest of hearts, we want to help out—so today's advice to the visiting firemen is: don't worry too much if you don't make it this season. Broadway is far from spectacular these evenings.

There is a small handful of productions around that are worth seeing (and even a couple of those are from last year), but by and large this is not a vintage crop. The big names are on Broadway as always, but some of the shows are currently in mediocre works. If you are disappointed in what you see in the showshops currently—blame the writers. "None of us," Noel Coward once said, "have much luck in writing a third act." The wisdom of his words is sharply in evidence this spring on the big drag.

The Big Ticket, of course, still is My Fair Lady. Unless you've written for seats months in advance, don't even waste time

Edgar Steady Visitor At Shawnee

By Jim Riley

Edgar Eisenhower, the gentleman who has been splashed across the front pages of virtually every newspaper in the United States this week, is a frequent visitor to Monroe County.

The Tacoma, Wash., resident is virtually an annual entry in the Shawnee Country Club Invitation Golf Tournament each Spring.

He may play in the initial tournament of the season there next month.

Edgar's recent headline splash came when he announced that he wasn't in agreement with brother Ike's requested budget. Ed termed it "too high."

The president let it be known that Edgar has been critic number one since Ike was five years old.

Edgar is very popular around the Shawnee golf course.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Marsh and two children, Stroudsburg Rd. 2, plan to fly to Ohio for the Easter weekend.

Charley is manager of the local J. C. Penney Store.

Rev. and Mrs. John H. Sinclair, both well known in Monroe County, became proud parents of a bouncing baby boy in San Fernando, Chile, on Saturday, April 6.

The new arrival was named John Mark Sinclair.

Al Pelham, veteran employe at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, has been on the sick list of late.

Everyone is wishing him a speedy recovery.

Could be somebody hung a "shiner" on him.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Cavuto are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wertheiser, Tannersville, this weekend.

Carmen, a former Pecono High School music teacher, is now teaching at State College.

Danny Pace, Delaware Water Gap, in addition to being a top flight golfer, is now an expert fisherman. At least that's how the story goes.

This man can do anything.

All of The Daily Record folks would like to take this opportunity to wish each and everyone of you a truly happy Easter. Take it easy on the chocolate, kids.

'Millionaire's Railroad' In County

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of three articles to be written by staff writer Paul Carlson, outlining all of the findings contained in the Dr. Earl P. Strong report.

By Paul Carlson
—IT MAY come as a surprise to many Monroe County residents that "the millionaire's railroad" runs through a section of the West End.

However, such is the case. The Chestnut Ridge Railway Co. is a short-line railroad operating between Kunkletown and Palmerton, a distance of 11 miles, and serving Little Gap and Aquashicola enroute.

Connecting with both the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Lehigh and New England Railroad, the short-line was built in 1898 as an outlet for white bricks manufactured at Kunkletown and with some thought of developing the area as a resort center.

The line earned its gold-plated nickname because it was financed by such tycoons as John Jacob Astor and J. Pierpont Morgan.

Today the line hauls ore, coal, lumber, barytes, iron, steel and other products to the New Jersey Zinc Co., and also handles the firm's finished products.

The story of the "millionaire's railroad" is contained in the 70-page economic survey of the country which has just been completed by the Bureau of Business Research at Pennsylvania State University, in cooperation with the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce.

The story of the short-line is just one of many examples contained in the report, outlining facilities serving the area.

"Transportation facilities to and from Monroe County are good," the report concluded. "They are being improved all the time."

Pointing out that the area is in strategic proximity to major industrial and market areas, the survey also noted that it is in a strategic position to proposed super-highways.

This is particularly true in the case of the proposed Keystone Shortway, it said. The highway would extend from Sharon on the Ohio border to Stroudsburg on the New Jersey border.

"Should this highway become a reality, direct high-speed highway transportation would be available to New York City to the east, to Chicago to the west, and to intermediate points," it continued. "The value of such a highway for shipment by truck is incalculable."

Meanwhile, the report observed that the Pocono Motor Freight terminal in Stroudsburg provides the region with a unique motor carrier service which has attracted the attention of transportation officials throughout the country.

The survey, conducted under the supervision of Dr. Earl P. Strong, noted that the terminal has made the Stroudsburgs the focal point of a novel service by providing facilities to distribute and receive freight for communities as far away as 40 miles.

"Since the completion of the terminal less than a year ago, this service has grown from serving one carrier handling 50,000 pounds of freight weekly, to 12 carriers handling in excess of 350,000 pounds per week," it stated.

"However, the terminal is geared to handle a maximum of one million pounds of freight per week to meet any future demands," it continued.

Cooperating carriers retain their independence, but, at the same time, benefit from the efficiency gained through consolidated pick-ups, deliveries and a modern transfer station, the report said. These carriers cover the principal points in every state, as well as Canada.

Through such a system, the report noted, duplicate trucking services are eliminated, costly waiting time is avoided, and tractor-trailers and other large trucks are kept off of congested streets.

The report further observes that Monroe County is adequately served by major utilities.

"Not only is the Pocono area itself well supplied with electric power," it declared, "but it is becoming an increasingly larger exporter of electricity."

The survey showed the Metropolitan Edison Co. is erecting a gigantic generating station along the Delaware River River south of Portland. The company is installing an initial 165,000 kilowatt unit in a station designed for an ultimate capacity of a million kilowatts.

Chicago Police Wipe Out Burglary Gang

CHICAGO, April 19 (AP)—A team of police marksmen ambushed and wiped out a three-man burglary gang early today on the 11th floor of Mandel Brothers big department store on State Street.

Cut down in the blaze of fire from machine guns and shotguns were James Rentner, 28, son of a veteran suburban Oak Park policeman and former Chicago police officer; and Mandel store detective himself, James Wolf, 28, owner of an 11-year police record, and Vincent Bartemio, 32, a reform school alumnus.

"They opened fire after I shot a machine gun burst over their heads and told them they were surrounded," said Sgt. James O'Neill who with six other detectives had lain in wait for an attempt to crack the store safe.

The burglars who carried a radio tuned to police calls as a precautionary tool tried to shoot their way out but it was hopeless. Their punctured bodies toppled within a few feet of each other in front of a cashier's window.

Officers

None of the officers even was nicked in the exchange of shots.

Police set the trap six hours before it was sprung because each of the three men had been seen loitering in the store recently as if casing it for a burglary.

James Lynch of the burglary detail said.

Even the store's private police force did not know of the detectives' presence in the place. At the close of business yesterday the detectives came in disguised as janitors and maintenance men and hid in two places in the credit department on the 11th floor.

Two minutes before midnight a store watchman punched a clock on the floor denoting all was well. Within minutes the burglars came in carrying a carton and a suitcase containing burglary equipment.

The gang was after loot estimated as high as a quarter-million dollars, receipts from the Easter shopping season.

The store is at State and Madison Sts. in the heart of downtown Chicago.

Soviet Union Replies To U.S. Note

MOSCOW, April 19 (AP)—The Soviet Union replied today to a note of last March 11 in which the United States rejected a Soviet proposal for a Big Four declaration on Middle East policy, a U.S. Embassy source said. Britain and France joined in the rejection, and they received similar notes today.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko delivered the new note to U.S. Charge d'Affaires Richard H. Davis. The text was not disclosed.

Proposal
The Soviet Union proposed on Feb. 11 that the three Western Powers join in a six-point statement of principles regulating Middle Eastern policies. The Kremlin called for renunciation of "military blocs" involving Middle East countries and any of the great powers, liquidation of foreign bases withdrawal of foreign troops from the Middle East, an end to arms shipments, and provision of economic aid with no military or political strings.

The United States told Russia a month later the big nations should not "abrogate to themselves decisions on matters of vital import" to the Middle East, and questioned the sincerity of Russia in making the proposals.

Pilgrims From Many Lands Attend Services At Vatican

VATICAN CITY, April 19 (AP)—Christ's suffering and death on the Cross nearly 2,000 years ago were commemorated in mournful Good Friday services here attended by pilgrims from many lands.

Thousands, speaking in hushed tones, streamed into St. Peter's throughout the day. Many of them also paid brief visits to Rome's other major basilicas and churches.

This morning, solemn Tenebrae, or darkness, services were held in St. Peter's, symbolic of Christ's death. Later in the day, as the fateful hours of Calvary approached, thousands again assembled for vespers services that included adoration of the crucified Christ. These services were held in St. Peter's and in most of Rome's nearly 500 churches.

Basilica
In the basilica—the world's biggest church—long lines advanced to kneel and kiss the crucified feet of Christ on a small cross, from which the purple Lenten covering cloth was temporarily lifted.

The vesper service included Gospel readings recounting Christ's betrayal by Judas, his scourging, crucifixion, death and burial.

The vesper service was followed by brief exposition of the Roman Catholic Church's major relics. They are the lance with which the Roman soldier Longinus is believed to have pierced Jesus' side, the veil with which Veronica wiped His face on the way to Calvary, and a piece of the Cross on which He died.

Pope Pius XII was putting the final touches on his Easter Sunday message. It will be televised for the first time, for audiences in Europe. Vatican sources said it probably will be heard by more millions than ever before listened to a Pope's Easter message. Vatican radio will broadcast it in 28 languages. In addition 14 European networks already have indicated they will be hooked up for direct transmissions. Later, American and Canadian networks and BBC will broadcast it.

Newbury Plans To Quit Pentagon Post

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson today announced the impending resignation of Asst. Secretary Frank D. Newbury, who recently became head of Pentagon research and engineering.

Wilson said Newbury told him he wanted to leave, but that the effective date of his resignation had not been decided yet.

Appointment of the 76-year-old Newbury to head the merged research and development and engineering offices last February aroused some concern among scientists that Newbury would place more emphasis on engineering than on research.

Newbury, denying any bias, said the combined office would continue a high level of defense research and development.

A former vice president of Westinghouse Electric Corp., Newbury had been in charge of the Pentagon engineering office since 1953. He and Wilson are friends of long standing.

Dog Found Hanging By Leash

THE POSSIBILITY that a prowler strangled a Stroudsburg family's pet terrier is currently under investigation by borough police.

Police reported that Mrs. Clarence Hahn, 30 N. 10th St., found her dog in the cellar when she came home from work at 4:20 p.m., Thursday. Its hind feet were touching the floor. One end of the leash was attached to a soil pipe, about four feet off the floor, and the other end was wrapped around the dog's neck.

Possibility
Authorities appeared almost certain that the animal did not hang itself. They viewed the possibility that an intruder entered the house through the cellar door and strangled the animal before attempting to get upstairs.

Although nothing was taken, police said fingerprints were found near the furnace and on the steps. Mrs. Hahn said the dog had been leashed in the cellar while she and her husband were at work. Upon arrival home, she went to the cellar to unleash the dog. Instead, she found it dead.

Feature
An important feature of the Medical Center is that it will provide hospital care on the North Side in the event of disaster. There is presently no major hospital on the North side of the Lehigh River between Lehigh Gap and Easton. In the event of the destruction of bridges through atomic attack or other major disaster, Muhlenberg Medical Center will insure life-saving hospital care to the entire North side area.

The cost of constructing and equipping the first General and Chronic Hospital buildings of the new Medical Center is six and one-half million dollars, one-third of this sum will be forthcoming in Government grants, the balance will be raised in a fund campaign, the public phase of which is scheduled for June.

Congressmen Undecided About Issue

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Forty-two per cent of Congress members who answered a congressional quarterly poll say they're undecided as to whether all professional sports should be covered by federal antitrust laws.

Of those who did commit themselves, a majority favored putting sports under the statutes.

Congressional quarterly, a private agency that keeps tabs on Congress, said 147 senators and representatives returned questionnaires with these results:

Undecided—62.

For covering all pro sports—43.

For exempting all pro sports—29.

For exempting only football and baseball—12.

Exempting
For exempting only baseball—1. The one who favored excluding baseball from antitrust jurisdiction reflected the present situation as established by court decisions.

Bills have been introduced in the House to cover baseball and, on the other hand, to exempt all team sports. Lately, however, there have been strong indications Congress will pass no legislation on the subject this session.

Lenten Meditation

Rev. John C. B. Robinson
Pleasant Valley Lutheran Parish, Gilbert, Pa.

And the Lord turned and looked upon Peter.—(Luke 22:61).

These words are written by Luke in referring to the time the disciple Peter denied his Master three times. The amazing thing is that Peter disclaimed all knowledge of his Master when he was suspected and questioned about being one of Christ's disciples.

During Lent, Peter, as always, is remembered for his shameful denial. It is something almost too fantastic for us to believe—a disciple of Christ saying: "I do not know Him." Especially fantastic when we consider this was the same man who had made the great confession at Caesarea Philippi, calling Christ—"The Christ of God."

Even though we may never deny our Lord with our lips by saying, "I do not know Him," His followers today can deny Him with their lives. Does your daily walk and conversation show that you are a sincere follower of the Christ of God?

Any sort of indifference to Christ and His teachings, and total work for mankind implies a denial of our Lord. This indifference may lead to concessions to Satan, who is ever ready to have Christians conform themselves to the ways of the world instead of conforming to the Kingdom of God.

One thought which we must never forget in regard to Jesus' looking upon Peter after the denial—that ONE look, was enough for Peter. Would one look be enough for many people today if they were to be in the same circumstances as Peter? Or would they try to pretend that they never noticed the Master's look?

Multitudes might feel that this look of Jesus Christ upon the disciple was clearly a look of rebuke. Could we not say that it was rather one filled with love and understanding? It was a look which said, in effect, and still says, "You have failed me, but there is forgiveness for you."

Peter, having denied his Master, nevertheless had responded to the look of God's love and mercy clearly shown in Christ. His was true repentance and a renewed fellowship with his Lord. He was strengthened in his relationship with the Master.

During Lent, do you see God's love and mercy in Christ as He looks upon you? Yes, as He looks upon you from the Cross on Calvary's hill? Do you truly repent and desire to be strengthened in your fellowship with your Master?

Commemoration Of Christ's Sufferings In Jerusalem Subdued By Middle East Threats

By The Associated Press
CHRISTIAN walked the Way of the Cross in Jerusalem and heard again in churches around the world the story of Cavalry in Good Friday services.

The commemoration of Christ's sufferings in Jerusalem was unusually subdued because only hundreds, instead of the usual thousands, of foreign pilgrims were able to reach the Holy City this year. The alarms of the Middle East, and only recently lifted bans on tourists, kept many away.

Thousands of Roman Catholics streamed into St. Peter's and Rome's 500 other churches for the solemn Tenebrae morning service, symbolic of Jesus' death, and knelt in evening vespers services to kiss the feet of the crucified Christ on a small cross. Then at night thousands gathered on the torch-lit Way of the Cross on Rome's Palatine Hill which looks down on the ancient Forum and Colosseum.

Annual Message

Pope Pius XII was preparing his annual Easter message which Vatican sources said probably would be heard by more millions than ever before. For the first time it will be televised for Europe. It will be broadcast in 28 languages on the Vatican radio and by 14 European networks, and later will be picked up by American, Canadian and British systems.

Around the world, in his island retreat of Formosa, Methodist convert Chiang Kai-shek and his wife delivered Good Friday sermons which were broadcast over the Chinese Nationalist radio.

At Konnersreuth, West Germany 3,000 persons filed past the cottage of Therese Neumann, a 59-year-old woman on whose body appeared to be marks corresponding to the wounds of Christ. The Crucifixion stigmata are reported to have appeared on her body each Good Friday since 1926.

In the United States, Britain and much of the Western world Good Friday, aside from the solemn religious services observed everywhere, was the start of the Easter holiday.

Sunshine

Bright sunshine drew Britons to the highways in the thousands, forgetting their gasoline ration worries, they flocked out of the cities for a motoring spree to seashore and countryside.

In Sydney, Australia, 250,000 of the city's 1,800,000 population were estimated to have left for a four-day holiday at seaside or country spots. On the other hand, many thousands came to the city for Easter shows and sporting events.

Wreck Causes $300 Damage

SNYDERSVILLE — More than $300 damage was caused last night in a two-car collision on Route 209 in front of Beseker's Diner in Snodgrassville.

Stroudsburg State Police identified the motorists involved, as Ronald S. Walters, 27, of East Stroudsburg, RD 2, and Gerald J. Wentz, 34, of Leighton. Both escaped injury.

Troopers said Walters came out of Legislative Route 945 in his 1954 coupe, and crashed into Wentz's 1957 station wagon, which was traveling west on Route 209.

Signs Included

MEXICO CITY, April 19 (AP) — Highway signs made of concrete with luminous paint lettering are

WHY DO YOU READ THE NEWSPAPER? COPYRIGHT 1957, BUREAU OF ADVERTISING OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION, INC.

Whether people want to "keep up-to-date" on world, national or local news, baseball scores or the latest styles in Bermuda shorts, the newspaper is the favorite medium — for adults and for teens.

It's the favorite because the newspaper has a wealth of reading for everybody. Newspapers serve almost all our 16,000,000 teens as well as the millions of adults who read daily newspapers. That's why daily newspaper circulation is highest ever — over 57,000,000.

Advertisers should find it profitable to turn their attention to the youth market. According to a recent survey made for newspapers by Eugene Gilbert & Co., famous youth authority, teen-agers spend over $9,000,000,000 a year of their own money on a variety of products. They also have considerable influence on family spending.

No matter what you sell; no matter how you sell it — nationally, regionally or locally — you'll find more prospects of all ages in the daily newspaper. Use it to get the greatest coverage with most profitable return.

Twenty-seven of the new plants were built with community funds. Industry, especially the new industry, is pleased with Scranton and its hard-working, ambitious, progressive inhabitants.
R. James Trane, vice president of the Trane Co. which produces plumbing supplies and opened a plant here in 1948, says his firm is "very satisfied."
"The company is now undergoing its 10th expansion since coming to Scranton. We are here to stay because we've never been given cause to regret our location."

Experience
Philip Cannon, plant manager of the Federal Pacific Electric Co., another new facility, said, "In my industrial experience I have never seen a plant that could boast as high a level of quality among the people in its working force as we have here." He added:

"The revelations in Washington simply don't represent the typical situation in Scranton."

Crime-ridden? Labor run? The average Scrantonian strongly disputes that.
"Sure, we have a murder now and then," is the comment, "and about the same number of other criminal cases as other towns this size—maybe not as many as some of the others."

"I fact, most of us say that in education, church-going and general good-citizenship—the kind you get from sturdy people of many nationalities—we don't make a bad showing at all."

Open House Scheduled At Sterling Grange

Sterling—Plans for Open House which will be featured at the Saturday night April 27 meeting of Sterling Community Grange 2056, were discussed at length during the semi-monthly meeting held this week with Fred McLain, master, presiding.

Mae Gilpin heads the entertainment committee which includes Mathilda Osborn, Verna Simons and Jean Burdick. Refreshments will be provided by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Osborn and Mr. and Mrs. David Holdren, with Verna Simons, Mathilda Osborn and Rachel Frick serving.

During the business meeting, at which all but six officers were present, a Forests and Waters Department report was heard. The charter was dropped in honor of the late Susan DeGroat. Named to a resolution committee in respect for Mrs. DeGroat were Jean Burdick, Mathilda Osborn and Bernice Dolan.

Jack Frick, Sterling, was reported on the sick list.

A financial report on the recent pancake supper sponsored by the Grange showed a profit of $106.

The program which followed the business session opened with the group singing of "The Old Rugged Cross." Arthur Watrous read the Easter meditation.

"The Man Should Have Housecleaned the Barn" was read by Lewis Osborn, and "The Wife Housecleaned" was read by Myron Moore. An original skit by Lawrence Simons and Bernice Dolan also entertained the group, following the general theme of "Spring Housecleaning." Hints for householders were given by the members.

All officers are asked to attend a rehearsal on Monday night, April 22, for the Open House program.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Now the merry mad - house starts. How merry it was for the last-minute Easter shoppers for food and finery is a moot question what with traffic piling up like the good old summer time and the parking places all gone at exactly 3:05 and the clerks all busy and the food check-out lines curling out like the tentacles of an octopus.

There was no doubt about the merry family reunions, however, but considerable question about whether the houses are going to stand the strain. Every bed is full, the cots are up and the cribs are out.

The dining room table, shrunk so long its smallest extent, now seems monstrous and to fill the dining room from wall to wall. The refrigerator, so long the repository for meat and skimpy portions, is now so bulging that things roll out if you open the door.

The very air, so long undisturbed, is vibrating if not with the radio, television, record player and telephone conversations, all going simultaneously, at least with their echoes. Just wait until the egg dyeing starts this afternoon and the colors will be vibrating, too.

The cook, also, is very likely to vibrate when after she has served the assembled multitude what seems to her cream-cheese-and-pear-salad conditioned mind like an enormous meal, they sit back and say "Well, Mother, the appetizer was very good. What's the main course?"

In the 17th century, laundry starches were colored and yellow starch was the most fashionable for men.

Although Iceland touches the Arctic circle, it has sub-tropic vegetation.

Egg Mosaics Make Novel Use Of Shattered Shells

If you're the artistic type but never get around to paints, brushes and canvas, why not try Easter egg mosaics? Instead of discarding those colorful Easter egg shells after the eggs have been eaten, why not save them for mosaic decoration?

The ancient art of mosaic decoration (inlaying surfaces with small pieces of colored glass and stone in patterns) may become a modern art with egg shells. Their soft matte finish makes them ideal for the purpose.

When peeling your egg remove the shells in as large segments as possible, keeping the various colors separate. (Jars come in handy for this purpose.) Make a drawing on gray or tan paper that will not be too complicated to be filled in with mosaics. Or trace a black and white photograph from your newspaper or use a colored one from a magazine for background colors.

After you've organized a design, glue the paper to a panel of wallboard or plywood. Comfortable dimensions with which to work are about two feet by a foot and a half.

Determine your color scheme from the shells on hand, and give it some consideration before dyeing the eggs so that you will

Penny Supper By Rebekahs Set For May 4

Tannersville—Attendance was good when the Elsie Longacre Rebekah Lodge convened at the Tannersville lodge hall on Wednesday night, April 17, with Noble Grand Marjorie Paul presiding. The team of "Pink Elephants" captained by Mrs. Betty Morgan had more members present than the "Green Trees" with Mrs. Dorothea Schreck as leader. At the present time the "Pink Elephants" are in the lead in the attendance race which has been in progress for several months.

Lodge members Mrs. Ruth Howell and Mrs. Nita Butz who have been ill were reported to be improving.

Planning for the penny supper to be held at the Tannersville fire house, on Saturday night, May 4, between the hours of 5 and 7, progressed. It was decided that turkey, ham and meat loaf would be featured on the menu.

Announcement was made that regular lodge meetings now start at 8 p.m.

Easter Lilies Of Recent Origin Story Shows

In 1876 while visiting Bermuda, W. K. Harris of Philadelphia saw a lovely white flower blooming with stately dignity and he was so impressed with the delicate waxy blossoms, that he determined to share his delight with his native countrymen. He brought some bulbs back to America with him and by forcing them to bloom early in the cold northern climate, they were well accepted as an Easter plant—thus giving us the first Easter lilies!

History tells us that the Easter lily was originated right in Pennsylvania by a Philadelphian who was fond of flowers. However, prior to the bulbs being grown in Bermuda, they were found growing wild on a small island south of Japan and were discovered there by an English missionary. While en route to his native England carrying some of these bulbs, the missionary and the small boat was blown off course by stormy winds and landed in Bermuda, where he left the bulbs with another missionary less than one hundred years ago.

Although the Easter lily is not yet a century old in this country, it has been around a long time. Legend-wise, it first sprouted from Eve's tears as she departed from the Garden of Eden. Almost universal now, this flower of many species may be found in Europe, Asia and America—exotic markings, glorious range of colors, and unusual shapes, makes it a popular choice of flower-lovers everywhere.

In spite of the fact that our lily originated from the Orient, or Bermuda, the hybrid is now a native of America. The basis of our hybrid, however, was first found in China (regal). Tall, beautiful, and distinct, these hybrids are especially appropriate as a symbol of Spring and the exaltation of Easter.

Easter Flowers Can Live Longer With Proper Care

By Cynthia Lowry
AP Newsfeatures

The colorful bloom of the traditional Easter gifts—flowers—frequently can be prolonged for days if not years—with proper care.

Cut flowers, for instance, will last much longer if the water is changed daily. Use tepid water, and make certain at least half of the length of the stems is immersed. They will benefit, too, if the ends of the stems are freshly cut—about a quarter of an inch snipped off with a diagonal cut. For best results, keep the cut flowers out of drafts—away from open windows even on balmy days, and out of direct sunlight.

Potted plants are also popular Easter gifts. Surveys of the Florists' Telegraphic Delivery Assn. indicate the six most popular gift plants are Easter lilies, azaleas, bulbs (tulip or hyacinth), hydrangeas and rose bushes. Here are tips on their care:

EASTER LILY—Provide plenty of light, but not direct sunshine. Water thoroughly. Transplant the bulb in the garden—a protected, sunny spot—after stem and leaves have yellowed.

AZALEA—Keep the plant in a well lighted room, and give it plenty of water. When the ground is warm, the plant may be moved outdoors.

TV Influence Discussed At Barrett PTA

Canadensis—The general topic of discussion at the PTA meeting at the school on Tuesday evening was TV influence. A panel consisting of Martin Pfeiffer, music teacher at the school, Mrs. John Black, parent, and Miss Ruth Hayes, high school senior had a group discussion on the subject.

Several of the views taken were that television primarily depends upon how the adults control it, that it could be used as an instrument for learning or for degradation. Miss Hayes thought that most students could take it or leave it. Another thought was that an allotment of hours could be given at the beginning of the week and when they were used up that was all to be allowed.

George Webb gave a report on the progress of a sex education program and the general conclusion was that it should be developed for an adult education program.

The nominating committee gave a report on nomination and there were several nominations from the floor. Election of officers will take place at the next meeting.

Edward Olker gave a report on the appreciation award.

It was discussed that for the last meeting of the semester a square dance social be held.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Wonder if, in your engagement book, you have reserved Wednesday evening, May 1st, for the lecture by Louis Untermyer at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College? Untermyer is undoubtedly one of the most distinguished men to visit our county for ever so long, and our college students are hoping he will be well enough received to warrant the bringing of other top caliber speakers to this area. Witty, profound, and brilliant, Louis Untermyer should assure intellectuals a memorable and enlightening evening. . . . In the gloom of Thursday's rain, it was not at all surprising so many passersby looked in appreciatively at our window display of Stangl's Wild Rose dinnervare. It's bright; it's appetite-provoking; it's open stock. . . . Enroute to New York by train Thursday morning, I encountered neighbors and friends I hadn't seen in weeks. There were Mrs. John Amzi LaBar and Mrs. Verner Reynolds enroute to the Easter show; Miss Kathryn McFarland of the college faculty, who is looking forward to another extensive tour of Europe this summer; and Kathryn Maguire, who left the train at Dover to visit a sister, just returned from a cruise to Nassau. And in our store Wednesday, I met Mrs. J. Clyde LaBar, one of the Stroudsburg's most remarkable women. I should hesitate to mention Mrs. LaBar's age, for she looks just the same now as when I first knew her years ago, and she is just as brisk in her walk and keen of mind. She tells me that part of each week is being spent in Dover with a daughter who is ill, and this we are sorry to hear. But aren't mothers wonderful?—whatever would the world do without them! . . . Ernie Michel-felder of our Music Store calls my attention to the fact that Elvis Presley, photographed on a piece of sheet music, is playing a guitar with the House of Martin trademark. That, you know, is the famous brand we carry at Wyckoff's, and to which I recently devoted an entire column. Oh, I recall the House of Martin name well. But Presley—WHATEVER became of HIM? . . . Two Metzgers, Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. T. I., were shopping our store the other day, but in different departments. Mrs. T. I. was busy making her Easter candy selections in Elsie Miller's department, and trying to reconcile her sweet tooth to her calory counting. Those were attractive earrings she was wearing—clusters of flatter pink discs, very similar to others we sell in our jewelry department. To me, a woman might just as well parade Main street in a bikini bathing suit as to appear without earrings—that's how accustomed I've grown to them. . . . A rag doll with the longest legs I've ever seen on a toy, is the chief attraction for my 1.98 in the toy department right now. I love rag dolls—a hangover from those days when I wanted one so badly but had just about everything else. These are of fine cotton, with features, buttons, and hands of felt, and many a teen ager would find them as decorative to the boudoir as tykes would find them cuddly. . . . Our toy department also ties in with the circus mood that grips the country every spring. For 98c any child can own Spongy the Clown, made in western Germany of gaily colored sponge rubber. He's tubbable and "tubbable" with a whimsical plastic face. . . . Also for 98c one can find a new type Jack in the Box. This wonderful variation of an old favorite, is a plastic girl with a neck that shoots out to an alarming length when she is plunked down too firmly upon her sturdy feet. . . . I love surprises, and it was a most pleasant one to receive a little note and Easter card from Lilye (Mrs. Victor) Taylor. Mrs. Taylor is, for money, one of the smartest women I've ever met, and as kind of heart as any friend I've ever been my privilege to know. It's heart warming to find she thinks of me and her other Monroe County friends even when vacationing in Richmond, Virginia. . . . I don't mean to "needle" you, but if you're a "knit wit" as so many talented women are, I do want you to know about the various fashion-packs to be found right now in our yarn department. There's the Fringe 'n Fabric sale, containing a yard of 80% orlon-20% wool jersey, and 8 ounces of Marvel Twist wool with directions for making the deep lacy edging and fringe. Then there are the collared caplet pak in black, white, red, pink, or blue at 4.98; the Empire jacket at 3.98, or the sequined glamor jacket at 4.98. And for those who really want to put on the dog—or maybe we should say "put it on the dog"—there's a Pedigreed Pet Coat Pak with directions and essentials for making the family pooch a sequined sweater. Wonder what TV's Clea would say to one of these?—bet she'd think some dogs have awfully bone-headed owners!

Control Of Firm Up Before Court

PHILADELPHIA, April 19 (AP)—The question of control of the giant Planters Nut and Chocolate Co., and whether it is to be run by one man or a four-member trusteeship, came before Pennsylvania's Supreme Court today.

After an hour's argument on the merits of an appeal brought by one of the trustees, Joseph Rocco, of Scranton, to upset a decision of the Lackawanna County Orphans Court the six sitting justices reserved decision. Only Justice John C. Bell Jr. was off the bench and therefore won't participate in final determination.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—There's no better time to ascertain whether you can improve a method, a system, or just one task. One improved task a day would be a wonderful total at the end of the year.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—It may not be as easy to persuade others to your way of thinking now, and you may find yourself irritated by small chores. Be patient, however. The rewards will be to your liking. Mostly good influences.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Like Gemini, you have some fine conditions under which to work or recreate if your day is free, but others may be obstinate or non-cooperative. YOU be the peace-maker.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—You may meet obstacles in least expected places, and you must have smooth sailing where you did not think you would. Be thoughtful, kindly toward those that irritate; it's worth the try.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Don't expect more for your day than others about you. Consider all things and act for the good of the whole, as is the general recommendation for everyone today. Some fine results are possible.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—In all matters take into consideration the least likely factors and you will be safe in computing possible returns. Emphasize your innate strength of purpose but with tact and calmness.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Patience and self-control will be needed to prevent errors and discontent. Be mindful in choice of associates.

November 24 to December 31 (Sagittarius)—Take careful aim before making moves today. While aspects are mostly favorable, some persons may try to upset your program.

December 32 to January 20 (Capricorn)—This can be a painful period but only with your constant help and close attention to essentials, appointments and additional tasks.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Leadership is effective only when the leader maintains strength of purpose. Have no fears or doubts, but be careful of the enterprises in which you engage. Keep smiling!

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Put bitterness, fear and brooding behind you. They are destructive forces and stand in the way of success and happiness. Seek worthwhile pleasures and congenial companions.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—BORN TODAY are a combination of Aries and Taurus, born on the change of Signs. Taurus, the rising Sign, gives you your stronger traits. You have considerable mental ability, acquire knowledge easily, can be quite stubborn at times. Cultivate self-control. You have the courage of your convictions, can be very practical, but may also act on impulse. You are usually accurate, but guard against haste; it can cause needless errors. Birthdate of Napoleon III, of France.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD—East Stroudsburg just missed losing by an eyelash their favorite football and baseball coach, Jack Kist, to another high school.

West Chester High, long after the services of the Kist, sent two top administrative officials to Eastburg last week with high hopes of luring away the highly popular Cavalier mentor.

What the Philadelphia suburban educational heads offered Kist to change places is unknown, but it has been reported that the contract, with its stipulations, would make some of our small college coaches shiver.

However, Kist turned down the in-person proposal, and we are sure the Eastburg sports populace are breathing much easier over Jack's choice to cast his lot with Cavalier grid and diamond fortunes again.

There is no question in my mind, and for that matter in many others, that if Kist had decided to take the position near the Quaker City, it would undoubtedly be West Chester's gain and East Stroudsburg High's loss.

For our dough we have yet to see a football coach get as much out of so little material as Jack does annually at Eastburg. It certainly would be a blow to the kids of Eastburg, the fans of East Stroudsburg and the general public of the town across the Broadhead, if Jack Kist had decided to take up residence at West Chester.

John (Juice) Arnst, East Stroudsburg High's great tackle of four years ago, is home for the holidays from his studies at Penn State University.

Big John, just as gigantic in stature as when he manned the Cavaliers line, was one of Rip Engle's lethal weapons on the Nittany Lions grid team this past season.

A had knee injury kept Arnst from really reaching the pinnacle of success at Penn State as the ex-Cavalier was sidelined most of his first two varsity seasons. However, last season, John, after an operation, returned to form and made himself known to Ohio State, Syracuse, Holy Cross and other Lion '56 victims.

Doug Schoonover, commissioner of the area's Babe Ruth League, foresees a good season for the 13 to 15 year boys group.

Doug, head basketball coach at East Stroudsburg High, is presently lining up his all-star Babe Ruth team, to play in the play-offs.

League play is all set with six teams scheduled to vie again in the championship race.

John D. Crandall, a Trinity College junior from Pocono Manor, is one of three lettermen returning to the Trinity varsity golf team this season. Crandall, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Crandall, Pocono Manor, is also varsity soccer and basketball manager and steward of Delta Phi fraternity.

Tony Gilpin, whose next best love to "beating the skins" is fishing, must have had trouble getting his catch this week on the angling trail. We surmise this, especially since "Anthony" has been missing from the main stem the past four days.

No doubt the ex-drummer boy has been hiding out at his favorite fishing haunts, waiting for the sun to rise each day, hoping to get his share of the brownies working their way through the streams.

Baseball on the scholastic, collegiate and amateur front will be in full bloom next week as the Lehigh-Northampton, Lehigh Valley and Monroe County leagues set sail, along with ESSTC's nine and the 10 clubs in the Pocono Mountain League.

There will be no lack of a place to go daily for diamond fans, now that all but Little League and Babe Ruth circuits are ready in action.

Vet PCL Pilot, Sweeney, Dies

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 19 (AP)—Death today ended the career of Bill Sweeney, 52, veteran manager of the Pacific Coast League's Portland baseball team.

He died at 12:40 a.m., after an operation yesterday for a perforated peptic ulcer.

Sweeney was born in Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 24, 1904, and was christened William Joseph Sweeney.

Strouds Hold Workout Today

STROUDS, a member of the Pocono Mountain Baseball League, will hold a workout today at Gordon Giffels Field, Stroudsburg, starting at 2:30 p.m.

Manager Frank Radler urges all players to report to the drill.

Major Leagues Settle Down To Serious Baseball

Yanks, Dodgers And Braves Solidly Set Trend For 1957

OPENING FANFARE out of the way, the major leagues settle down to serious baseball today with the trend of the 1957 season already solidly set.

The red-hot advance favorites are off and running. Old pros are stealing the headlines from eager rookies. And rhubarbs—ahead of their spring schedule—are blossoming all over the place.

The world champion New York Yankees, who have been in seven of the last eight World Series and won six of them, carry an unbeaten 2-0 record into their second game with the Red Sox at Boston. The Chicago White Sox, hosts to Kansas City, are tied with the Yanks for the American League lead.

Similar Marks

Over in the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves, who are favored to battle it down the wire for the pennant, are out in front with a similar 2-0 mark and 1,000 percentage.

Brooklyn is host to Pittsburgh at Ebbets Field and Milwaukee is at home with Cincinnati, rated the "dark horse" contender for honors in the elder circuit.

In other games today Baltimore is at Washington and Cleveland at Detroit in the American League and Chicago at St. Louis and Philadelphia at New York in the National.

Meanwhile, there is an undercurrent of discontent over the new 20-second rule aimed at speeding up the game. The rule requires that a pitcher must get rid of the ball 20 seconds after he receives it and the batter cannot leave the box after the pitcher has become set.

Loudest cry against this rule was voiced by Yogi Berra of the Yankees, who contended he struck out in his opening time at bat last Tuesday when his bat hit the shingled roof of the Washington catcher.

"Chained To Plate"

"Somebody will get killed out there if umpires enforce those new speed rules," fumed Yogi. "The batter is chained to the plate. If a swirl of dust gets in his eyes or perspiration drips down his face or a gnat blinds him, he has to grit his teeth and take it."

The Yankees' Whitey Ford added to the season's turbulence—set fire earlier by Ted Williams' blasts—when he disclosed that pitchers, alarmed over the "rabbit ball," were getting together and comparing "books" on the major league hitters. "It's to keep us from becoming extinct as a dodo," said Ford.

Okawa Regains Feather Crown

TOKYO, April 19 (AP)—Hiroshi Okawa regained the Japanese featherweight boxing championship tonight by outpointing Kiyoko Nakamishi in a 10-round bout. Each weighed 126. Okawa had won the title from Nakamishi by decision last August.

Cleveland Browns Trade Six For Packer QB, Linebacker

CLEVELAND, April 19 (AP)—The Cleveland Browns yesterday traded six players to the Green Bay Packers for quarterback Bobby Garrett and linebacker Roger Zatkoff.

Going to Green Bay are quarterback Babe Parilli, for whom the Browns traded Garrett to Green Bay in 1954, defensive halfbacks John Pettibone and Billy Kinar, center Sam Palumbo, guard John Macerelli and end Carlton Massey.

"Garrett is the key figure in the deal for us, due to our wideopen quarterback situation," Coach Paul Brown said. "We always did wonder what we could have done with Garrett, and now we will have the chance to find out. . . . He is a smart young man and has a strong arm."

Plans To Retire

Zatkoff, Green Bay captain and a National Football League stand-out the past two seasons, is only 26 but has announced to the Packers he intends to retire.

Sugar Ray Plans New Strategy In Second Fuller Fight

By WHITNEY MARTIN
GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y., April 19 (AP)—Ray Robinson pulled on a white rubber girdle, tugging and squirming in the only way you can get into the contraptions. He flashed his personality-kid grin.

"Makes you sweat around the hips," he explained. "That's where you can't carry weight. Slows you down. Don't want to lose my speed. That is, what speed I have left."

A trainer handed him an eye cup filled with fluid, and he gave each eye a good washing.

"Always take care of my eyes," he said. "That's where most of the trouble starts, in the gym. Robinson dust and other particles floating around. They get in an eye and after while you have trouble. Always wash my eyes before and after workouts."

Eastburg LL To Sign 'All' Boys Today

PRESIDENT Jack Kist of the East Stroudsburg Little League announced last night that all boys in the 8-12 year bracket will register today at East Stroudsburg High School from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Kist emphasized that boys who registered last year or in 1955 also must sign up for this season. (It was inadvertently reported wrong in yesterday's Daily Record that only new Little League candidates need register at last night's and today's "inkings.")

Kist said that each boy must show proof of age by bringing along his birth certificate today.

Don January Sets Record At Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 19 (AP)—Free-swinging Don January, a young Texan with an aching back, slammed a 7-under-par 65 for a course record and the lead at the midway mark of the $40,000 Tournament of Champions today.

The 27-year-old professional from Lampasas, Tex., with a remarkable comeback from a dismal round of 78 yesterday, toured the sun-drenched Desert Inn Country Club course this warm afternoon in 32-33 for his 65 and a 36-hole total of 143.

Par for the test is 36-36-72, and January's 65 broke the course record of 66 which Art Wall Jr. set in winning this event in 1954.

Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., carded 73-76 and Mike Sou-chak, Grossinger's, N. Y., had a 74 for 150.

Reeders Team To Drill Sunday

Kentucky Derby Previews Billed At Jamaica, Laurel

By The Associated Press
TWO OLD Eastern Kentucky Derby previews, the Wood Memorial and the Chesapeake Stakes, will be the main attractions today at New York's Jamaica Race Track and Laurel Park, Md.

The $50,000-added Wood, over the mile and one eighth distance, holds the edge in importance as the Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler makes his final start before the $125,000-added Derby May 4. After Bold Ruler won the Flamingo at Hialeah March 2, beating Gen. Duke, he was labeled the early Derby favorite.

When Gen. Duke beat Bold Ruler March 30 in the Florida Derby, that Calumet colt moved into the favorite's role.

Bold Ruler has six opponents and they could be tough for the Wheatley star. Among them are John L. Appelbaum's Mister Jive, winner of the Gotham last week, and the Bohemia Stable's Ambe-having, winner over Bold Ruler and others last fall in the Remsen at Jamaica. Six of the seven entered for the Wood, which in the past has produced six Kentucky Derby winners, are eligible for the Louisville gallop.

The Wood goes on TV and radio, CBS, with post time about 4:33 p.m., EST.

15 Entries

Fifteen 3-year-olds were entered for the $20,000-added Chesapeake at Laurel, but only five are eligible for the Kentucky classic.

They are the Cain Hoy Stable's Dark Hammer, the Carolyn K. Stable's Pro-Brandy, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Roscoe Maney, and Mrs. Cecil B. Fischbach's Federal Judge. Last year Mrs. Fischbach's Frosty Mr., a 99-1 shot, won the Chesapeake, but was ineligible for the Derby.

The entry of Gannet and Bakht, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords, and the Howell E. Jackson entry of Four Fathoms and Cross Channel, are expected to get heaviest parimutuel support. Four Fathoms won the Chesapeake trial last Saturday.

Needles vs. 14

Needles, who won the 1956 Kentucky Derby for the D. & H. Stable, and 14 others were entered for the $50,000-added Southern Cross Handicap at Gulfstream Park, Miami, late yesterday.

however, the top-weighted Needles, under 130 pounds, was withdrawn. This left Mrs. Eugenia E. Bankhead's Jabneh, winner of the $100-350 Hialeah Turf Handicap, the topweight with 121 pounds for the mile and one eighth affair.

Other races on the schedule are the $60,000 Bay Meadows Futurity for 2-year-olds at San Mateo, Calif., and three $10,000-added handicaps, the Ben Ali at Keeneland, Lexington, Ky., the Pawtucket at Lincoln Downs, R.I., and the Inaugural at Sportsmans Park, Chicago.

Father-Son Fete

Set For Thursday

EAST STROUDSBURG Midget Football League Father-Son Banquet will be held Thursday at Smithfield School cafeteria, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Tickets are now on sale at Lloyd's Sporting Goods Store, East Stroudsburg, may be obtained from the Varsity "E" Club, sponsors of the event.

Fair, some 12 miles from midtown Manhattan. The property now is used for commuter parking. There would be room to park 12,000 cars plus the stadium.

He pondered over the last fight, diagnosed it, and had come up with a new strategy to eliminate mistakes.

His sparring partners have been instructed to imitate the style of Fuller as closely as possible, and they did pretty well at it, coming in, often lunging, with gloves high in a sort of shell protecting the face, looping a punch as they advanced, and then trying to get into a clinch with one arm free to belabor Robinson's ribs and neck and head.

But Robinson was having none of it, thanks. He tied up both his sparring partner's arms, or sometimes covered up himself and let them flurry fruitlessly on his gloves and arms until they were spent. Then he would unleash a furious attack, featured by stern blows to the body. He seemed to be boxing more flat footed to add authority to his blows.

Fuller Awkward

"Fuller is a hard man to fight," he had said before going into the ring. "He's awkward, but he's hard to hit. I'm trying not to waste punches, and to pinpoint them."

This also was obvious as his jab threaded its way through the barricade of gloves in front of him, and he waited for an opening before crossing with a right or bringing up an uppercut to the mid-section.

All in all, and impossible as it may seem at his increased age, Sugar Ray seemed to be a vastly better fighter than he was in his first meeting. A confident fighter, too, as he again emphasized that you can't go into a ring thinking you are going to loose.

Harvard Coach Seen Adding Trio To Staff

GETTYSBURG, Pa., April 19 (AP)—The head football coach at Gettysburg College, who has been named to a similar post at Harvard, said today another member of the staff here is being considered for an athletic post at Harvard.

John Yovicin, who was given the Harvard job last month, made the statement in commenting on a report in the Gettysburg Times listing three men it said will join Yovicin at Harvard.

He denied there was anything definite about the reported moves. The Times said these changes would be made:

Jimmy Lentz, freshman football coach for five years at Gettysburg, Harvard line coach.

Alex Bell, former assistant coach at Villanova University, end coach at Harvard.

Port Jervis

The Times story said also that Ted Schmidt would remain at Harvard as a line coach.

Ted 'Quoter' Arrested On Drunk Driving

NEW ORLEANS, April 19 (AP)—Crozet Duplantier, 35-year-old executive sports editor of the New Orleans States, was released today six hours after being charged with reckless operation of an auto and driving while intoxicated.

State Police Sgt. Leon Carrington and Lt. Vincent Ebelar reported Duplantier was weaving from one side of a state highway to the other and refused to stop for questioning. He was paroled to face the charges on May 9.

Touched Off

Duplantier touched off a brief flurry after his interview with Ted Williams here earlier this month. He quoted the Boston Red Sox slugger as having blasted, among others, the Marine Corps, former President Truman, and the U.S. Government, Williams later denied that he criticized Truman, but agreed to most of Duplantier's story.

NBA Players Granted Formal

ST. LOUIS, April 19 (AP)—The National Basketball Assn. Board of Governors, for the first time, granted formal recognition yesterday to the NBA Players' Assn., and agreed to meet annually with player representatives.

The board, meeting with three player representatives and their attorney, also consented to an arbitration procedure for players with grievances.

The player may appeal to the league president, and if unhappy with his decision, may appeal to a three-man board chosen by the players from members of the NBA Board of Governors.

Macaulay Spokesman

Ed Macaulay of the St. Louis Hawks, acting as spokesman for the player representatives, said, "We believe this is extremely fair—we believe the players will be happy with this."

The board approved a 72-game schedule beginning Oct. 22 and ending March 12, and awarded the Jan. 21 NBA All-Star Game to St. Louis.

It also ruled out further play-offs for positions such as the one this year when St. Louis, Minneapolis, and Ft. Wayne wound up in a three-way tie for the Western Division title at the end of the regular season.

Summer Basketball Leagues To Be Organized In Bangor

BANGOR—For the first time in history, Bangor will have Summer basketball leagues. This new venture to improve the basketball fortunes of the Bangor Area Joint High School is being sponsored by the Second Ward Community Association.

Leadership for the project is being supplied by Walter Vanderbush, a member of the high school faculty and varsity basketball coach with the assistance of Charles Fishler, also a member of the junior high school faculty.

It has been deemed by those responsible as the first major step in a long time to revitalize an interest in Bangor in this sport with the hope of placing basketball in the same category of interest to the community now enjoyed by football.

Two Levels

The effort is being concentrated in both the junior as well as the senior high school level, and plans are presently under way to start the summer league schedule by the first of June.

Plans announced by Vanderbush and Fishler call for a junior league composed of teams having two players from next year's eighth grade; two from next year's seventh grade and four players from grades below the junior high school level probably fifth and sixth or even below this point should enough boys indicate an interest in playing. Each boy that registers and is present at the game if assigned to a team must play in half of the contest when his team is in action.

Senior League

The senior high school league will require that one varsity high school player will be a member of the team; one may be one that will graduate in June of this year from high school or be a member of next year's senior class; two may be junior varsity players and four players must come from next year's 11th, 10th or 9th grade. As in the case of the junior league, all players assigned to the team, if present at the game must play at least half of the game.

To Set Up Rules

Other league rules are being prepared and will be released within the next several weeks. Fishler and Vanderbush have urged that all boys interested in summer play should sign up with them as soon as possible.

The Second Ward Community Association is presently conducting its annual membership drive to assist in the sponsoring of the Second Ward Playground and its recreational activities. Local persons interested in contributing to this worthy cause are asked to contact Fishler or call him at Bangor 383-J.

Kelley Chief U.S. Hope In 26-Mile Race

BOSTON, April 19 (AP)—Young Johnny Kelley was the chief hope today to end America's 11-year drought in the revamped 61st Boston A. A. Marathon as one of nine men who are expected to rule the field of 177.

Kelley, the Groton, Conn. school teacher, is rated in the company of the outstanding foreigners—two Finns, three Koreans and three Japanese.

Keizo Yamada of Japan (1953) and Veikko Karvonen of Finland (1954) are former winners.

The race begins promptly at noon, EST, tomorrow from suburban Hopkinton Center to Exeter Street in the Back Bay section of Boston.

A survey last week, first measurement of the course since 1927, showed the paved path to be 1,187 yards short of the standard 26-mile, 385-yard distance. In accordance, the starting line has been moved back.

Bangor LL Inks New Players

BANGOR—All new players for the Bangor Little League will be registered at the Elks Home today at 10:30 a.m., Thomas W. Jones, player agent, has announced. This will be the final opportunity to sign before practice is held the following Saturday, April 27.

Any boy who will not attain his 13th birthday before Aug. 1, 1957, and who has not previously played Little League ball may register. Candidates are requested to bring their birth certificates with them.

Iron Leige Romps To Win

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 19 (AP)—Iron Liege, rated the No. 2 colt in the strong Calumet Farm string, gave his Kentucky Derby stock a boost today in romping 7 furlongs to equal Keeneland's track record.

The Bull Lea colt edged One-Eyed King from the Cain Hoy Stable and Derby favorite Gen. Duke from Calumet in romping home handily in 1:22 2-5 to equal the standard set by Your Host seven years ago.

Pfahl of the faculty; Carl B. Cranmer of Trenton, N.J.; Bender; alternate Francis J. Marousky of Shenandoah, and J. Barry Bittinger of Hanover.

Stroudsburg Student Third In Flower Judging Contest

PENNSYLVANIA STATE University's flower judging team won first place recently at the 16th National Intercollegiate Flower Judging Contest at Urbana, Ill.

Social Security Choice Up To Individual

WHETHER a woman worker or wife who is age 62 but not yet 65 files for social security benefits is a decision she must make, according to Harry R. Peterman, district manager for the Social Security Administration at Easton.

Peterman stated that technically trained personnel in his office will gladly discuss the pros and cons of the question, but will not recommend a course of action. The decision is a personal matter the woman herself decides after she considers her particular circumstances.

Widows or a dependent mother qualifying for benefits on a deceased worker's record have no decision to make, since there is no reduction in benefits for filing at or after age 62, and before age 65. However, a woman filing for her benefits on her own work record at age 62 will get only 80 percent of the monthly amount available for her if she waits to age 65 to claim benefits.

The age 62 wife of a husband receiving benefits will get only 75 percent of the monthly amount she can expect if she waits until she is 65. In case a woman worker or the wife of a retired insured worker chooses to take benefits in a reduced amount before she reaches 65, she will continue to get a reduced amount even after she is 65.

Although the maximum reduction rate is applied against women workers and wives who file for benefits right at age 62, it doesn't mean the woman filing at age 63 or 64 experiences the same reduction. Actually the reduction is figured on a number-of-months-under-65 basis. The reduction for a woman filing at age 62, 36 months under age 65, will be twice as much as that of the woman filing within 18 months of age 65.

The woman worker who draws benefits before she is 65 does not suffer a disadvantage for having drawn benefits unless she lives over 12 years after she is 65. For a wife, she suffers no disadvantage until nine years after age 65, and, if her husband precedes her in death she will receive full widow's benefit.

Peterman stressed that those who want further information should contact their social security office by telephone, mail or in person.

Burgesses To Launch Egg Hunt

BURGESSES Hal H. Harris and Jesse R. S. Flory, Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, have agreed to toss out the first eggs in the annual Jaycees Easter Egg Hunt Monday at Day St. playground in East Stroudsburg.

William D. Johnson, general chairman for the Jaycees egg hunt, announced that the two burgesses have accepted invitations from the organization to head the hunt. It will begin at 10 a.m. at the playground.

An estimated 1,500 children will take part in the hunt from all areas of the county. Johnson emphasized that the egg hunt is designed for children throughout the county area and not just for the Stroudsburgs alone.

Preparation

In preparation for the hunt, Jaycees will hide about 2,000 eggs. There will be 150 prizes including 25 live rabbits, 25 stuffed rabbits, and 100 assorted candy prizes.

Children will take part in three separate age groups: four and five years; six to eight and nine to 12. A separate area will be set aside for small children in the three years or younger "toddler" or "creeper" group.

Johnson also announced that the Delaware Valley Transportation system has voluntarily arranged for free transportation from the YMCA to the playground. There will be no return trip.

The bus will leave the YMCA at 9:15 a.m. for East Stroudsburg. It will make only one pickup and one trip.

Three Grades Present Play

CANADENSIS — On May 16 at 2 p.m. the first three grades of the Barrett School put on a play-let under the direction of Mrs. F. Jurgens, Mrs. E. Rose, Mrs. H. Reese and Miss M. Muller.

The theme of the play was King of the Woodland. The King was sad because he had no queen so three little elves brought in many different woodland characters to cheer him up and as a finale and surprise for the King, put on an Easter Parade for his pleasure.
